Certificate in Domestic Violence & Support

Using knowledge to tackle domestic violence and help make a positive difference

The advanced certificate in domestic and family violence support is one of the first qualifications to be fully endorsed right throughout Australia's states and territories that focuses directly on DV.

This course teaches students on how to provide the correct support to help all survivors of DV regardless of age, sex or identity.

The advanced certificate in domestic and family violence support is perfect for anyone that is wanting to pursue a career within this sector or may already be working and wanting to upskill to further their career.

Did you know?

In the wake of Australia's first Royal Commission into Family Violence, training and education have been recognised as important defenses against domestic and family violence.
